

The Engagement & Wedding of Joseph E. Huber & Emma Rothmeyer

They were the grandparents of Joseph H. Huber and his brother Daniel Lee Huber, who were the sons of Joe Huber and Kathleen Smith.

September 20, 1882, Yankton Press & Dakotan

Joseph Huber, one of the county's youngest and most successful farmers, is acting somewhat suspiciously nowadays and his friends think he is contemplating a wedding. He is hauling a great deal of lumber to his farm which he says is for a granary, but a car load of boards are not required in the construction of a granary. And this lumber is just the sort that a man might use in building a residence. And then what does Mr. Huber want the initials E. R. T. on a granary for.

October 6, 1882, Yankton Press & Dakotan

Licences to Marry.
Licenses to wed have been issued to the following named persons, this week:
Name.	Age.	Residence
David A. Maøker,	25	Yankton
Mary E. Benson,	17	"
Joseph Caba,	24	"
Lena M. Placar,	22	"
Ole C. Olson,	29	"
Inger M. Anderson,	20	"
Joseph E. Habler,	25	"
Emma T. Rothmeyer,	22	"

October 10, 1882, Yankton Press & Dakotan

The author mistakenly referred to Emma as Bertha. Bertha, Emma's younger sister, would marry Charles Huber (Joseph's brother just two years later). Yes, you read that correctly – two brothers married two sisters.

A Rural Wedding.

Joe Huber, son of Peter Huber, the well known Jamesville farmer, was married yesterday forenoon at 10 o'clock to Miss Bertha Rothmeyer, daughter of John Rothmeyer, who resides eight miles north of Yankton. These young people are widely known in this county, and it is not surprising that the wedding which occurred at the bride's home, should have been attended by not less than 200 people, and the affair proved to be all that might be desired in the way of a wedding. Happiness looked in at the door of that spacious country home and all day long, infused the guests to give the newly married pair a pleasant beginning of their new life.

Gifts of value and beauty were showered upon the young people, and when they go to live in a new house on the groom's farm, they will find it more comfortable because of the remembrances of friends.
